

You Think You're Free? Then Why Are You Still Defending Him?

The Joel Johnson Effect: How Manipulators Keep Their Enablers Hooked

TL;DR:

Joel Johnson is not just another narcissist—he's a professional manipulator. A PR & marketing executive, a former CEO who raised millions on Kickstarter, a public speaker invited to the White House, and a man who has built his entire career on controlling narratives.

He knows how to make you defend him.

He knows how to make you doubt what you see.

He knows how to keep his enablers loyal—even as he burns through them.

But ask yourself this—

If you're truly free of his influence,

If you're not under his control,

Why does the thought of questioning him make you so uncomfortable?

Why does your heart race when you read this?

Why do you already feel the urge to defend him—before you've even finished the sentence?

That's not loyalty.

That's programming.

I know what you're thinking.

I know what you're feeling.

Because I was there too.

Until I saw it.

Until I faced it.

Until I understood that what I thought was friendship—was control.

So ask yourself again:

Are you free?

Or are you still in his grip?

Are You Thinking for Yourself—Or Just Repeating His Script?

You don't have to like me.

You don't have to agree with me.

But if you're defending him—ask yourself why.

Because I know exactly what he tells you.

- 👁️ He says I'm obsessed.
- 👁️ He says I'm unstable.
- 👁️ He says I'm the real manipulator.

And yet, here you are—parroting his words.

Not your words. His.

The same words he feeds to everyone he pulls in.

The Narcissist's Playbook: How You Got Here

You didn't sign up to be part of a cult of control.

You just listened.

It starts with a story. A lie.

He tells you about his pain, his persecution.

He paints himself as the underdog.

He makes sure you see him as the hero.

And when I expose what's really happening?

- ◆ He frames himself as the victim.
- ◆ He twists reality to make me the villain.
- ◆ He feeds you the script you're repeating now.

What He Doesn't Want You to Realize

- 📌 You aren't defending a friend. You're defending a manipulator.
- 📌 You aren't thinking for yourself. You're repeating his damage control.
- 📌 You aren't standing up for justice. You're serving as his shield.

How do I know?

Because this is what he does.

It's what people like him always do.

And if you ever step out of line?

He will turn on you just as fast.

Don't believe me?

Then tell him no—just once.

Tell him you're done playing his game.

Watch what happens.

The Truth You've Been Avoiding

He isn't a leader. He's a manipulator.

He isn't a victim. He's an abuser.

He isn't misunderstood. He's orchestrating this entire thing.

And now, you have a choice:

You can keep playing your role in his illusion.

Or you can wake up.

You can pretend you never read this.

Or you can start asking yourself the hard questions.

Because deep down?

You already know.
